Joint Security Industry Council

Notice to members and applicants for membership The Data Protection Act 1998

JSIC needs to process the personal data of individual participants within the Joint Security Industry Council.

JSIC maintains a database of members and their representatives and may have to pass your details to other persons or organisations, for example but not exclusively:-

1. JSIC's service providers
2. Regulatory authorities
3. Industry related organisations
4. For marketing purposes and to promote membership, JSIC publishes details of its membership and their individual representatives. This information is available publicly.

We will, at all times, process personal data in accordance with the Data Protection Act 1998 and the Human Rights Act 2000.

Members' and their representatives' details will be processed and included in publications and on the JSIC website unless specifically requested to the contrary in writing.
